The incumbent may be re-assigned to different activities and/or duty stations depending on the evolving needs of the Organization.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The Investment Centre Division (TCI) promotes investment in agriculture and rural development in developing countries and countries in transition, assisting governments, international financing institutions (IFIs) and other development partners with the strategic planning and implementation of their investments to achieve growth, poverty alleviation, food security and nutrition goals.

Under the overall supervision of the Director, TCI, and the supervision of the Chief, Asia and the Pacific Service (TCIB), the incumbent, as a member of a multidisciplinary team, will be responsible for financial and economic aspects of agricultural and rural development investment operations. In particular, the incumbent will:

- assist in the identification and preparation of investment projects and programmes;
- establish the feasibility of investment proposals through studying market prospects, prices, costs and risks, and carrying out financial and economic analysis;
- evaluate performance of investment projects or programmes during implementation, and their impact after completion;
- review investment implications of agricultural and rural development policies and national plans and programmes for poverty alleviation, food security, nutrition, and climate change adaptation and mitigation;
- implement capacity building activities for private and public sector stakeholders on investment project/programme preparation, appraisal and implementation, and other related topics;
- interact with government officials, staff of development partners and country level stakeholders to facilitate exchange of critical information and validate findings and recommendations regarding the investment proposals;
- perform other related duties as required.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

Candidates should meet the following:

- University degree in economics, agricultural economics, natural resource economics, or a closely related field
- Five years of relevant working experience in the practical application of economic analysis to development issues, including in the identification and preparation of investment operations in agricultural and rural development in developing countries and/or countries in transition
- Working knowledge of English and limited knowledge of one of French, Spanish, Arabic, Chinese or Russian

SELECTION CRITERIA

Candidates will be assessed against the following:

- Extent and relevance of experience in participating in multidisciplinary teams for formulating agricultural and rural development investment operations in developing countries or countries in transition, specifically carrying out financial and economic analysis
- Extent and relevance of experience in implementation support, monitoring and evaluation and impact assessment of investment operations
- Extent of familiarity with the investment preparation, appraisal and supervision procedures of FAO's main development partners, namely the World Bank (WB) and the International Fund for Agriculture and Development (IFAD)
- Relevance of experience in capacity development in the field of investment operations in agricultural and rural development
- Experience in dealing with government officials, staff of development partners and stakeholders in the context of investment operations
- Good communication skills, both oral and in writing, including demonstrated capacity to write technical reports in English
- Relevance of work experience in Asia and the Pacific

N.B. Willingness to travel frequently to developing countries and/or countries in transition and for geographic mobility reassignments

Please note that all candidates should possess computer/word processing skills and should be capable of working with people of different national and cultural backgrounds.

 The length of appointment for internal FAO candidates will be established in accordance with applicable policies pertaining to the extension of appointments
