ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The articles presented in this book are based on studies conducted within the framework of the SIDA-funded small-scale fisheries project of the Bay of Bengal Programme (BOBP) of the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations. Our thanks go to Mr. L. O. Engvall, Programme Director, who not only allocated the resources necessary to carry out the work but also gave valuable advice with regard to the chapter on environment and technology and was always available for discussions and comments.

We thank Dr. B. Raychaudhury of the Anthropological Survey of India who has been a permanent source of inspiration to the authors and whose profound knowledge of the fisherfolk castes of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and of their traditional occupations helped the authors a great deal.

We would like to thank the officials of the Directorate of Fisheries of Orissa, and the Marine Fisheries Extension Service, Orissa-particularly Mr. G. S. P. Misra, Mr. B. S. Durgaya, Mr. R. K. Das, Mr. A. N. Sethy, Mr. S.R. Das and Mr. R. P. Nanda for their wholehearted support and able advice while preparing and conducting the study. We would also like to thank the enthusiastic field survey investigators- Mr. K. Ethiraj, Mr. B. K. Panda, Mr. R. Radhakrishnan, Ms. Theresa, Mr. B. Ch. Barik, Mr. P. C. Mohanty, Mr. S. Mitra, Ms. A. Mohanty, Mr. H. Srivastava, Mr. K. M. Dei, Mr. S. Misra, Mr. S. Shekar and Mr. G. Ch. Das. Last, but not the least, we would like to thank Mrs. P. Gordon, Mrs. M. Paul and Mrs. K. Yourey for their secretarial assistance.

The photographs in the book were taken by E. Amalore, M. H. Kalavathy and U. Tietze.
