
OTHER MATTERS

A number of communications presented additional aspects not included in formal discussion sessions. These were as follows:

Tools for the management and display of information:

Summaries of these presentations are included in annex II. The need for a summary of available tools/software for the analysis of the type of data presented at this workshop was raised. A number of available tools were presented.

The status and direction for small pelagic stock assessment in the Mediterranean:

The work of the small pelagic stock assessment group of the Scientific Advisory Committee (SAC) of the General Fisheries Council for the Mediterranean (GFCM) was presented. Implication for studies of the relationship between fishery and environmental variability were highlighted.