

CALL FOR CLIMATE-SMART AGRICULTURE PHOTOS AND VIDEOS CONTEST

We are excited to announce to you our Call for CSA photos and videos contest to be presented and showcased in GACSA photos exhibition at international conferences!

The exhibition aims to raise awareness of the commendable efforts and initiatives undertaken by the participants to combat climate change and promote sustainable agricultural practices. The event will highlight all the images and videos related to the impact of CSA on different communities and ecosystems, inspiring further collaboration and action in the pursuit of sustainable and climate resilient agriculture.

The Facilitation Unit, with the support of international photographers will select the most significant pictures and videos from participants. The selected pictures and videos will form a group of media to be used for installing exhibitions at international conferences such as the COP28, WFF, CFS.

How to participate:

1. Submit Your Photos or Videos: Share high-quality images or one/maximum two minutes video in which the essence of your CSA projects and/or successes are captured. These photos or videos should also demonstrate innovative practices, adaptation to changing climate conditions, improved yields, and any other relevant aspects of your work.

Please ensure that the images and videos are in high resolution and clearly depict the story you wish to communicate.

2. Supporting Information: Along with your photos and videos, provide brief descriptions in which the context, impact and significance of the projects are well explained as well as successes featured in the images and videos. This information will help visitors to better understand the importance of your work.
3. Submission Deadline: Please send your photos/videos and supporting information to GACSA Facilitation Unit email [GACSA-Facilitation-Unit@fao.org] by COB 15 October 2023.

Late submissions may not be considered as part of the exhibitions this year. A new call will be launched next year.

4. Authorization: By submitting your photos/videos, you grant GACSA the right to use these media as well as showcasing them in GACSA social media platforms as part of promotional materials

Please ensure that you have all the necessary permissions and rights to share these visuals.

Benefits of Participation:

- Global Exposure: Your work will be showcased at the international level by drawing attention to your organization's commitment to CSA.
- Network Opportunities: Connect with fellow practitioners, policymakers, and stakeholders who share your passion for CSA.
- Inspire Change: Your success stories can inspire and encourage others to adopt climate-smart practices, contribute to global efforts to combat climate change
