

Soils and typical products

Date: August 10th, 2015

Location: DOC wine farm "Colli Piacentini.

By means of a field visit, this trip will describe the soils and agronomic characteristics of production processes. Participates will be taken through a guided tasting experience of the wines of the host, highlighting those special characters that are linked to the soil from which the grapes are grown. The wines will be paired with typical products from the region of Piacenza, in order to provide you with an example of how food and wine expresses the character of the area and its culture.

Method: Presentations of the soil in the field with Dutch auger; presentation via powerpoint and video projector;

Number expected: 30 people
